POETRY.

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP.

In the quiet nurvery chambers Snawy pillows yet unpressed. See the forms of Eule child.en Kneeling white-robod for their rest. All in quiet unsery chambers, While the dusty strelows creep, Hear the voices of the children—

In the meadow and the mountain Cabuly slane the winter stars; But across the glistening lowlands Slam, the moonlight's silver bars, In the silence and the darkness Darkness growing still more deep, Listen to the little children

Sow I lay me down to sleep.

Praying God their rowls to keep. "If we die," - so pray the children
And the nother's heat droops low;
(One from out her fold is sleeping,
Deep beneath the winter's snow,)
"Take our sons;" and past the casement blike a gloom of the control light. Flits a gleam of crystal light, Like the finiling of his garments, Walking eventions in white.

Little soals that stand expectant, Listen at the gate of life; Heating, far away, the murmur Of the tunnit and the strife We, who fight beneath those banners, Meeting ranks of former there, Find a deeper, browler meaning In your simple vesper prayer,

When your hands shall grasp this standard Which to-day you watch from far, When your deeds shall shape the conflict In this universal war, Pray to him the God of battles, Whose strong eye can never sleep, In the warring of temptation, Firm and true your souls to keep.

When the combat ends, and slowly Clears the smoke from out the skien. When far down the purple distance, All the noise of battle dies, When the last night's solem shadows Settle down on you and me, May the love that never taileth Take our souls eternally.

THE ELECTIONS. The returns from the elections held is several States on Monday, although incom plete, are sufficient to show that the Republican candidates have lost largely in each instance. The result has not the rightscance that would attach to a general election, as the questions at issue were local and a degree of political independence among masses, as showing that the ties of party offiliation are not so strong as they have sometimes been, - are not strong enough to blid men to the support of candidates or platicans not in accord with their own

In some of the recent elections, the bolfrom party nominations has been the protest of mun of principle against setting up as the standard bearers of a party men, who have secured prominence only by the arts of tracking politicians, or against the introduction into the platform, of side questions on which the inembers of a party may honestly differ. Whatever may be the local causes impelling to this independence of party dictation, it is the manifestation of a spirit in which every every true patriot welfare of the country is secure, of which there can be no assurance when its officies are at the control of party dictation and the strife arising therefrom. In these utterances of the "roice of the people" there are admonitions to which the Republicans will do well to take heed, This party was founded in the first place upon a moral basis, and there is much of the original moral element remaining in its membership,—a sufficient quantity to de mand of its leaders to have respect to their moral convictions in the building of platforms and the nomination of candidates. Owing to the material constituting this party, it has never had the compact organization nor the strict discipline and obedience of party dictation which for long years marked the Democratic party. No other party ever had it; and, although it has great effect in party efficiency, it is not desirable that if should ever be in possession of any body of men.

On account of this absence of discipline the Republican organization has no power to prevent the injurious atterauces of the indiscreet taen who go about the country giving vent to their convictions or their bile and are taken for mouthpieces of the party. The party becomes hopelessly divided for went of an authoritative announcement of its policy, and its opponents use the speeches of these men to represent the mass of sentiment and highten the limid relative to its tendencies and purposes. Stevens on universal confiscation, Wade on agrarianism, Astrolog on impeachment, Butler on green backs and a host of others, each with his staple speech, supposes himself, and is supputy and to foreshadow action, the result of which can only be agitation and turnioll, of which the country is heartily weary. I warned in time to shun these and other dangers, Republicanism may still triumph away.

The Presidency.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times says an Administration organ aurounces that the meeting for the ratification of the nomination of Andrew Johnson for President and Gen. William T. Sherman for Vice-President, which was appointed for the 10th inst., has been postponed until the 18th prox., when it will be held in the Capital. The amounteement is made with a great splurge of italies and small caps, and creates considerable surprise, as but few people know that such nominations were ever made. The fact is the first decisive election in Capital Pages district, he has much cause tolders in the Pelican State, got on a spree at Crystal Springs some months since, and tracely at Crystal Springs some months since, and tracely themselves into a political party, numbering, all fold, not over a baker's dozen, and made the nominations. They state official display." agreed that they would meet at some future occasion for the purpose of ratifying their action, but unfortunately for their object. a few of them got soler and failed to come to time. The result was that the bottom fell through, and the new party of the future mentioned has about as much foundation as the Runic inscription hosy, with which the same paper was most egregously sold.

A Florence dispatch dated Tuesday annomices that the Caribaldians are marching upon Rome from every direction. Every Gay lately has shown that the movements of the revolutionists were becoming more for midable and threatening; and the fact that, though a success is claimed for the Papal troots in one of the fights, they are unable to prevent the advance of the enemy toward the capital is certainly an ominous circumstance. In the meanwhile the French and Italian Governments are attempting some sort of new accordations about the Pope.-It is reported that a proposition is under discussion to dispose of his case, by confining his temporal authority to the City of Rome, and providing that after his death the temperal power of the Papary shall cease.-But, then, wither the Pope nor the Garibuildians have approved of this suggestion, and there is danger that before they get through with their present difficulty it may be entirely impracticable. The diplomatists had better hasten their labors to a conclusion; and if either Victor Emmanuel or Napoleon intends to dispatch troops for the salvation of the Pope, it is evidently time they were on the march. It is very doubting, however, whether such a step would terminate the present troubles.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin, lu an article on this subject, gives a history of the prices borno by bread-huffs sluce the recent harvest began, and shows up the manner b which the recent advance has been produced, as well as the reasons for expecting a decline in prices before long, The statement is prade that both new wheat and flour opened at low prices-or, rather, such prices as may be considered relatively fair as compared with the current rates of other limited in their interest and application, and commodities. But a change in the temper do not indicate with certainty the feeling of of commercial circles soon set in; and, on the voters on the great matters of unitional the plea that revised estimates of the wheat importance. It is, however, indicative of crop showed a much smaller yield than was generally expected, prices for the last few weeks have been steadily lending up, with a heavy demand both from dealers and specu

The Supply and Price of Breadsmills

Some of the alarmist seven go so far as to ary that the new crop of Winter wheat has already been sold and gone into the channels of consumption to the extent of one-half or two-thirds of the whole amount raised; that the Spring wheat, which looked so promising in the field, turns out to be principally chaff and straw; and that two full crops must be realized (bringing us down to (869, at least,) before bread can be allorded o the consumer at its normal value.

But these predictions of imminent searcity are a part of the tactics always resorted to by professional operators, whose gambling transactions have lately been shown up in ought to rejoice, showing that, in the hunds Chicago. With almost unlimited money of an intelligent and patriotic people, the facilities at their command, they may be able to blow up the bubble a little while longer, and again force up the market for breadstuffs to near the former starvation prices. But the labble will burst in spite

At the present rate of shipments and deiveries, the Eastern markets, notwithstand ing the present consumption, will be glutted to repletion before the close of navigation But breadstuffs must confluie to come forward to the East, since there is no other autlet for them. The South is again selfsustaining, and will create no diversion of supplies this year, as it has for five or six years past. California and Oregon are now large shippers instead of importers of breadstuffs, and are competing with the States of the Mississippi Valley and Lake Shore, as sellers, both in European and Eastern mar

There will be no large demand abroad for Western breadstuffs at present prices. The crop of Western Europe is rather light; but the deficiency can be more economically supolied from the Baltic and Black Sca regions Moreover, the closing of Lake pavigation next winter, will not put a stop to the move ment of breadstuffs toward the sea-board. Bailroad freights, though they may advance a little, cannot be got up much higher with the great facilities now offering for ship ments via the Mississippi river. With the markets here already well supplied, the time consumed in transportation, by this route will be no object; while the saving in cos will be decidedly an object for both shipper: ant consumers.

Hence, we regard the late advance is breadstuffs as an unhealthy inflation, and posed by others, to be the exponent of a one sure to bring about a reaction at no dis iant day. It has come too soon ! be maintained; and if it had occurred later in the season, after receipts had begun to fall off, it might look more plausable. Besides, the wants of consumption and commerce, se next year. Tramph it must, or much of pressing at the beginning of the season, are what the way has gained will be thrown now well supplied, and the demand must inevitably and largely fall off during the next

THE DESCRIPT IN ORIG. - A letter from Monrocyille, Ohio, dated the 30th alt.

"Since the 1st of July there has been no rain in this section of the country, and while east of the Alleghanies you have had a sufficiency of moisture, here we are parened and dry. The leaves on the trees are of the sombre dead her of November. The debts are covered with the green. The fields are covered with dry grass, and pasture is sailly deficient. The corn, what there is of it, has been cut, and either standa in shocks or has been fed to the cattle. The hay crop was abundant, but so destructive has been the drought, that the farmers have been keeping their cattle on it for two months. The corn folder is so light and devoid of substance, that it is of no service in feeding. As for corn itself there is no crop at all, many fields not being worth gathering. As a consequence, form produce is very high and butter is at famine prices. Cattle are very cheap and thousands are daily forwarded to the Eastern markets, because the large converged to the restore the formats.

The insurgents in the Papai States seem to have arbieved a complete and an easy victory. The Cable informs us that the Oaribaldians are marching from all direcions upon Rome. No further resistance of the Papal troops is mentioned, and it is not probable that any further resistance will e altempted. The organs of the Italian Government wish to rob Garibaldi of the fruit of his victory, and urge an immediate occupation by the National troops of the City of Rome. The weakness of the Papal Government is so apparent that it seems to have even modified the policy of Louis Nahis arrest. He wished to take a bath, but poleon, who is reported now to be ready to consent to the immediate annexation of the Papal Provinces to Italy, and to the annexation of the City of Rome on the death of Pius IX.

The writer states that the elekness has completely paralyzed business. Such a state of things was never known before. Even in '53 the slekness had subskided before the busy season occurred. Now the fever is raging with undiminished violence. If it decreases one day, the lope engendered is withered the next, by a still higher rate of mortality. The writer also efutes that many of bis friends there are 16,000 cases under treatment, but this does not comprise all by any means; many cases are never reported. The disease, however, is much less virulent and fatal than in '53,50, or '55, and yields much more readily to good treatment. No hope of its abatement is entertained until alreavy frost supervenes.
